The third season of free monthly bike tours of different Chicago community areas concludes this Saturday, June 19. This tour, which is organized by Big Shoulders Realty, begins at 1 p.m., at the Garfield Park Fieldhouse (100 N. Central Park Ave.) in Chicago.

Each tour focuses on a different area and offers riders a four to five hour / 14 to 18 mile tour with narrated stories and explanations of the local history and architecture. This month, the group will ride throughout the community areas of East and West Garfield Park, and the namesake park, originally the Central Park of the three major parks of the West Side Park Commission. Riders will travel through the park and communities and hear details about the history of the area and learn about buildings by Frank Lloyd Wright, Jens Jensen, Dwight Perkins, William Le Baron Jenney, Michaelson & Rognstad, Alfred Aschuler, Schmidt, Garden & Martin, John Christensen, William Carbys Zimmerman and numerous other influential architects.

Big Shoulders Realty is a local real estate brokerage and cycling and historical preservation advocates. Lee Diamond is co-owner of Big Shoulders and researches, authors, narrates and leads all of the company's tours. The rides are presented in partnership and with the assistance of the Active Transportation Alliance, theChainlink.org and the Chicago Cycling Club.
